AV Communication Review Index
Volume 25, 1977

A

Abedor, Allan J. See Davis, Robert H.

Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, article, Ann DeVaney Becker, 2 181–194

And furthermore . . ., John B. Haney, 1 108–110, 2 206–210, 4 441–444

Anderson, Daniel R., Stephen R. Levin, and Elizabeth Pugzles Lorch, The effects of TV program pacing on the behavior of preschool children, article, 2 159–166

Anderson, Richard C., and John T. Guthrie, Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, research abstract, 2 215

Anderson, Ronald H., Selecting and developing media for instruction. Book reviewed by Robert H. Nassau, 3 297–299

Anfin, Carol Steele, A comparison of the effectiveness of direct contact with children in the classroom versus indirect contact via videotape in Piagetian conservation tasks in preservice teacher training, research abstract, 1 112–113

Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, article, Stephen T. Kerr, 3 243–267

Assessment of teaching textile polymer science to home economic students by closed circuit television cassette tapes, Rosalie Rosso King, research abstract, 1 113–114

Attitudes
- Articles: Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, 3 281–289; The prince and the faceless, nameless child, 4 423–425; Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, 1 25–41; Educational technology and human values, 3 221–242; Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, 2 147–158; Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, 3 243–267
- Research abstracts: Children's perceptions of the computer as an expert source of information, technical report no. 44, 4 448

Audiotape
- Articles: Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, 2 167–179
- Research abstracts: A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, 3 308–309

AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, article, Gerald M. Torkelson, 4 317–358

B

Baker, Eva L., book reviewer, 4 427–429

Baran, Stanley J., Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, article, 3 281–289

Becker, Ann DeVaney, Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, article, 2 181–194

Behavioral instruction: an evaluative review, Kent R. Johnson and Robert S. Ruskin. Book reviewed by Donald A. Cook, 4 434–440

Berry, Louis H., An investigation of the effectiveness of realistic and non-realistic color in visualized instruction, research abstract, 2 216; Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, research abstract, 2 216

Bibliography
- Research abstracts: Guide to the literature of audiovisual education, 3 306–307

Blake, Robert R. See Mouton, Jane Srygley

Books reviewed
- Behavioral instruction: an evaluative review, 4 434–440
- Commitment to excellence: a case study of educational innovation, 1 91–96
- Computer animation, 3 303–305
- The craft of teaching: a guide to mastering the professor's art, 2 195–199
- Crazy talk, stupid talk, 1 105–107
- The Delphi method: techniques and applications, 4 429–434
- The future of public broadcasting, 3 291–297
- The immortal profession: the joys of teaching and learning, 2 195–199
- Instrumented team learning: a behavioral approach to student centered learning, 1 100–103
- Libraries for today and tomorrow, 2 200–203
- The manipulators: America in the media age, 2 203–205
- Media and the adult student—one man's journal, 1 97–99

AV Communication Review Index
Volume 25, 1977

A

Abedor, Allan J. See Davis, Robert H.

Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, article, Ann DeVaney Becker, 2 181–194

And furthermore . . ., John B. Haney, 1 108–110, 2 206–210, 4 441–444

Anderson, Daniel R., Stephen R. Levin, and Elizabeth Pugzles Lorch, The effects of TV program pacing on the behavior of preschool children, article, 2 159–166

Anderson, Richard C., and John T. Guthrie, Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, research abstract, 2 215

Anderson, Ronald H., Selecting and developing media for instruction. Book reviewed by Robert H. Nassau, 3 297–299

Anfin, Carol Steele, A comparison of the effectiveness of direct contact with children in the classroom versus indirect contact via videotape in Piagetian conservation tasks in preservice teacher training, research abstract, 1 112–113

Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, article, Stephen T. Kerr, 3 243–267

Assessment of teaching textile polymer science to home economic students by closed circuit television cassette tapes, Rosalie Rosso King, research abstract, 1 113–114

Attitudes
- Articles: Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, 3 281–289; The prince and the faceless, nameless child, 4 423–425; Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, 1 25–41; Educational technology and human values, 3 221–242; Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, 2 147–158; Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, 3 243–267
- Research abstracts: Children's perceptions of the computer as an expert source of information, technical report no. 44, 4 448

Audiotape
- Articles: Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, 2 167–179
- Research abstracts: A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, 3 308–309

AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, article, Gerald M. Torkelson, 4 317–358

B

Baker, Eva L., book reviewer, 4 427–429

Baran, Stanley J., Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, article, 3 281–289

Becker, Ann DeVaney, Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, article, 2 181–194

Behavioral instruction: an evaluative review, Kent R. Johnson and Robert S. Ruskin. Book reviewed by Donald A. Cook, 4 434–440

Berry, Louis H., An investigation of the effectiveness of realistic and non-realistic color in visualized instruction, research abstract, 2 216; Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, research abstract, 2 216

Bibliography
- Research abstracts: Guide to the literature of audiovisual education, 3 306–307

Blake, Robert R. See Mouton, Jane Srygley

Books reviewed
- Behavioral instruction: an evaluative review, 4 434–440
- Commitment to excellence: a case study of educational innovation, 1 91–96
- Computer animation, 3 303–305
- The craft of teaching: a guide to mastering the professor's art, 2 195–199
- Crazy talk, stupid talk, 1 105–107
- The Delphi method: techniques and applications, 4 429–434
- The future of public broadcasting, 3 291–297
- The immortal profession: the joys of teaching and learning, 2 195–199
- Instrumented team learning: a behavioral approach to student centered learning, 1 100–103
- Libraries for today and tomorrow, 2 200–203
- The manipulators: America in the media age, 2 203–205
- Media and the adult student—one man's journal, 1 97–99

New media in public libraries, a survey of current practices, 2 200–203
Selecting and developing media for instruction, 3 297–299
Teaching concepts: an instructional design guide, 4, 427–429
Technological forecasting for decisionmaking, 4 429–434
Telephone: the first hundred years, 1 103–105
Writing scientific papers in English: an ELSE-Ciba Foundation guide for authors, 3 300–303
Brooks, John, Telephone: the first hundred years. Book reviewed by Colin Turner, 1 103–105
Brown, James W., New media in public libraries, a survey of current practices. Book reviewed by Karen B. Tyler, 2 200–203

C

Can audio-visual media teach children mental skills, Joanne F. Rovet, research abstract, 4 447
Carlisle, Robert D. B., Media and the adult student—one man's journal. Book reviewed by Allan Hinderstein, 1 97–99
Cater, Douglass, and Michael J. Nyhan, eds., The future of public broadcasting. Book reviewed by Harold E. Hill, 3 291–297
Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, article, Larry R. Judd and Carolyn B. Smith, 2 147–158
Chapman, David W., Robert Holloway, and Edward Kelly, Using ratings by students to predict high and low achievers in a PSI course: a discriminant analysis, article, 4 411–422
Children's perceptions of the computer as an expert source of information, technical report no. 44, Henry T. Ingle, research abstract, 4 448
Cognitive processes for evaluating the credibility of television content, Michael Forte, research abstract, 3 310
Color
Research abstracts: Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, 2 216; An investigation of the effectiveness of realistic and non-realistic color in visualized instruction, 2 216
Commitment to excellence: a case study of educational innovation, Robert H. Davis, Allan J. Abedor, and Paul W. F. Witt. Book reviewed by Elwood E. Miller, 1 91–96
A comparison between achievement gains in multimedia instruction and conventional lecture method of instruction of nursing courses at Northern Virginia Community College, Betty L. Peterson, research abstract, 3 307
A comparison of the effectiveness of direct contact with children in the classroom versus indirect contact via videotape in Piagetian conservation tasks in preservice teacher training, Carol Steele Anfin, research abstract, 1 112–113
Computer animation, John Halas, ed. Book reviewed by Roy Paul Madsen, 3 303–305
Computer-assisted instruction
Research abstracts: Children's perceptions of the computer as an expert source of information, technical report no. 44, 4 448; An intelligent CAI monitor and generative tutor, 4 448; The use of CAI to provide problems for students in introductory genetics, 4 449
Computer-based education
Research abstract: Demonstration and evaluation of the PLATO IV computer-based education system; computer-based education for a volunteer armed service personnel program, semi-annual report, 4 449
Comstock, George, The long-range impact of television, research abstract, 3 309; The evidence on television violence, research abstract, 3 309–310
Content attended to in evaluating television's credibility, Sherryl B. Graves, research abstract, 3 310
Cook, Donald A., book reviewer, 4 434–440
Cooney, Joan Ganz, Quarterly progress report, April 1, 1976—June 30, 1976, Children's Television Workshop, research abstract, 2 214
The craft of teaching: a guide to mastering the professor's art, Kenneth E. Eble. Book reviewed by Cameron Fincher, 2 195–199
Crawford, Duane, ERIC as cited by doctoral dissertations in education: a statistical analysis with commentary, research abstract, 4 446
Crazy talk, stupid talk, Neil Postman. Book reviewed by Maria Simpson, 1 105–107
Csanyi, Attila P., and others, Programming method and response mode in a visual-oral task, research abstract, 2 215–216

D

Davis, Robert H., Allan J. Abedor, and Paul W. F. Witt, Commitment to excellence: a case study of educational innovation. Book reviewed by Elwood E. Miller, 1 91–96
Dayton, Deane K., Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, article, 2 125–146
Dean, Dwight G. See Fisher, C. Daniel
The Delphi method: techniques and applications, Harold A. Linstone and Murray Turoff. Book reviewed by Dean R. Spitzer, 4 429–434
Demonstration and evaluation of the PLATO IV computer-based education system; computer-based education for a volunteer armed service personnel program, semi-annual report, research abstract, 4 449
The development and validation of instructional videotapes to assist in the training of nutrition educators, Janet Kathleen Wirth Poley, research abstract, 1 114–115
Dirlam, David K., and James A. Millar, Media and creativity: effects of pictures on ideational fluency in children, research abstract, 4 447
Duby, Paul B., and David R. Giltrow, Students enroll in a model television course: evaluation of city colleges of Chicago's use of "Ascent of Man," research abstract, 3 312

E

Eble, Kenneth E., The craft of teaching: a guide to mastering the professor's art. Book reviewed by Cameron Fincher, 2 195–199

Educational technology
Articles: Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, 3 243–267; AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, 4 317–358; Educational technology and human values, 3 221–242; Professional scholarship in educational technology: criteria for judging inquiry, 1 5–24
Research abstracts: Educational technology, organizational structure and teacher perceptions of effectiveness, 4 446–447
Educational technology and human values, article, Charles F. Hoban, 3 221–242
Educational technology, organizational structure and teacher perceptions of effectiveness, Roy E. Harkin, research abstract, 4 446
The effect of cartoon-embellished programed textual instruction on students' skill learning and affective learning, Shelly D. Freisinger, research abstract, 2 215
The effectiveness of self instruction video cartridge tapes in teaching college level industrial arts, John J. Sladicka, research abstract, 1 115–116
The effects of TV program pacing on the behavior of preschool children, article, Daniel R. Anderson, Stephen R. Levin, and Elizabeth Pugzles Lorch, 2 159–166
The effects of video tape and still photo process feedback on the aesthetic quality of hand-built clay pot forms of college undergraduate art students, Elmer Davis Taylor, research abstract, 1 117–118
Enger, John, and others, Teaching introductory chemistry with videocassette presentations, research abstract, 3 307
ERIC as cited by doctoral dissertations in education: a statistical analysis with commentary, Duane Crawford, research abstract, 4 446
Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, article, Ray E. Main and Bruce Griffiths, 2 167–179
Evaluation of eight "Infinity Factory" programs. Part I: analysis of the eight-show series; Part II: show-by-show analysis; appendices, Francis A. Harvey and others, research abstract, 2 213–214
The evidence on television violence, George Comstock, research abstract, 3 309–310

F

Factors which predict the credibility ascribed to television, Aimee D. Leifer, research abstract, 3 310
Fincher, Cameron, book reviewer, 2 195–199
Fisher, C. Daniel, and Dwight G. Dean, The realism of marital and parental roles on television: a research report, research abstract, 3 311
Fisher, Thomas J., and others, Increasing information-seeking behavior with a model-reinforced videotape, research abstract, 1 112
Fleming, Malcolm L., The picture in your mind, article, 1 43–62
Forte, Michael, Cognitive processes for evaluating the credibility of television content, research abstract, 3 310
Foshay, Wellesley R., Letters, 4 426
Fradkin, Bernard, A review of multiple image research, research abstract, 2 214
Freisinger, Shelly D., The effect of cartoon-embellished programed textual instruction on students' skill learning and affective learning, research abstract, 2 215
The future of public broadcasting, Douglass Cater and Michael J. Nyhan, eds. Book reviewed by Harold E. Hill, 3 291–297

G

Giltrow, David R. See Duby, Paul B.
Graves, Sherryl B., Overview of the project; Content attended to in evaluating television's credibility, research abstracts, 3 310
Griffiths, Bruce. See Main, Ray E.
Guide to the literature of audiovisual education, John P. Lewis, Jr., research abstract, 3 306–307
Guthrie, John T. See Anderson, Richard C.

H

Halas, John, ed., Computer animation. Book reviewed by Roy Paul Madsen, 3 303–305
Haney, John B., And furthermore . . ., 1 108–110, 2 206–210, 4 441–444
Harkin, Roy E., Educational technology, organizational structure and teacher perceptions of effectiveness, research abstract, 4 446–447
Harvey, Francis A., and others, Evaluation of eight "Infinity Factory" programs. Part I: analysis of the eight-show series, research abstract, 2 213; Part II: show-by-show analysis, research abstract, 2 213; appendices, research abstract, 2 214
Heinich, Robert, book reviewer, 3 300–303
Highet, Gilbert, The immortal profession: the joys of teaching and learning. Book reviewed by Cameron Fincher, 2 195–199
Hill, Harold E., book reviewer, 3 291–297
Hinderstein, Allan, book reviewer, 1 97–99
Hoban, Charles F., Educational technology and human values, article, 3 221–242
Holloway, Robert. See Chapman, David W.
How numbers are shown: a review of research on the presentation of quantitative data in texts, article, Michael Macdonald-Ross, 4 359–409
Hsia, H. J., Redundancy: is it the lost key to better communication?, article, 1 63–85

I

Illustrating the lecture: prepared diagrams vs. built-up diagrams, article, H. Maddox and R. J. Loughran, 1 87–90
The immortal profession: the joys of teaching and learning, Gilbert Highet. Book reviewed by Cameron Fincher, 2 195–199
Increasing information-seeking behavior with a model-reinforced videotape, Thomas J. Fisher and others, research abstract, 1 112
Ingle, Henry T., Children's perceptions of the computer as an expert source of information, technical report no. 44, research abstract, 4 448

Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, article, Deane K. Dayton, 2 125–146

Instrumented team learning: a behavioral approach to student centered learning, Jane Srygley Mouton and Robert R. Blake. Book reviewed by Robert A. Reiser, 1 100–103

An intelligent CAI monitor and generative tutor, final report, Elliott B. Koffman and Perry James, research abstract, 4 448

Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, article, Ernest T. Pascarella, 1 25–41

Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, Louis H. Berry, research abstract, 2 216

An investigation of the effectiveness of realistic and non-realistic color in visualized instruction, Louis H. Berry, research abstract, 2 216

J

James, Perry. See Koffman, Elliott B.

Johnson, Kent R., and Robert S. Ruskin, Behavioral instruction: an evaluative review. Book reviewed by Donald A. Cook, 4 434–440

Judd, Larry R., and Carolyn B. Smith, Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, article, 2 147–158

Jurors' responses to videotaped trial materials: some recent findings, Gerald R. Miller, research abstract, 1 112

K

Kaufman, Roger, The prince and the faceless, nameless child, comment, 4 423–425

Kelly, Edward. See Chapman, David W.

Kerr, Stephen T., Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, article, 3 243–267

King, Rosalie Rosso, Assessment of teaching textile polymer science to home economic students by closed circuit television cassette tapes, research abstract, 1 113–114

Kippax, Susan. See Murray, John J.

Knowledge of the television industry and relevant first-hand experience, Erin M. Phelps, research abstract, 3 310

Koffman, Elliott B., and Perry James, An intelligent CAI monitor and generative tutor, final report, research abstract, 4 448

L

Learning
Articles: The picture in your mind, 1 43–62; Redundancy: is it the lost key to better communication?, 1 63–85
Research abstracts: Can audio-visual media teach children mental skills, 4 447–448; Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, 2 215

Learning from television: a television based learning system as a capable school resource, Michael S. Radlick, research abstract, 3 308

Lecture
Articles: Illustrating the lecture: prepared diagrams vs. built-up diagrams, 1 87–90
Research abstracts: A comparison between achievement gains in multimedia instruction and conventional lecture method of instruction of nursing courses at Northern Virginia Community College, 3 307; Teaching introductory chemistry with videocassette presentations, 3 307

Leifer, Aimee D., Factors which predict the credibility ascribed to television, research abstract, 3 310

Lemon, Judith, Teaching children to become more critical consumers of television, research abstract, 3 310

Letters
Ernest T. Pascarella, 3 290
Wellesley R. Foshay, 4 426

Levin, Joel R. See Ruch, Michael D.

Levin, Stephen R. See Anderson, Daniel R.

Lewis, John P., Jr., Guide to the literature of audiovisual education, research abstract, 3 306–307

Libraries for today and tomorrow, Virginia H. Mathews. Book reviewed by Karen B. Tyler, 2 200–203

Lindsay, Carl A., and Harrison T. Southworth, 1976 Pennsylvania Public Television Network audience research project: phase 1. audience definition and estimation, research abstract, 3 312

Linstone, Harold A., and Murray Turoff, The Delphi method: techniques and applications. Book reviewed by Dean R. Spitzer, 4 429–434

The long-range impact of television, George Comstock, research abstract, 3 309

Lorch, Elizabeth Pugzles. See Anderson, Daniel R.

Loughran, R. J. See Maddox, H.

M

Macdonald-Ross, Michael, How numbers are shown: a review of research on the presentation of quantitative data in texts, article, 4 359–409

Maddox, H., and R. J. Loughran, Illustrating the lecture: prepared diagrams vs. built-up diagrams, article, 1 87–90

Madsen, Roy Paul, book reviewer, 3 303–305

Main, Ray E., and Bruce Griffiths, Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, article, 2 167–179

The manipulators: America in the media age, Robert Sobel. Book reviewed by Arthur C. Pariente, 2 203–205

Martino, Joseph P., Technological forecasting for decisionmaking. Book reviewed by Dean R. Spitzer, 4 429–434

Mathews, Virginia H., Libraries for today and tomorrow. Book reviewed by Karen B. Tyler, 2 200–203

Mayhew, Lewis B., ed., Research Abstracts, 1 111

Media and creativity: effects of pictures on ideational fluency in children, David K. Dirlam and James A. Millar, research abstract, 4 447

Media and the adult student—one man's journal, Robert D. B. Carlisle. Book reviewed by Allan Hinderstein, 1 97–99

Merrill, M. David, and Robert D. Tennyson, Teaching concepts: an instructional design guide. Book reviewed by Eva L. Baker, 4 427–429

Methods, Comparison of Articles: Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, 2 147–158; ERIC 1976 Young Scholar Paper—Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, 2 125–146; Illustrating the lecture: prepared diagrams vs. built-up diagrams, 1 87–90; Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, 1 25–41; Pictorial organization versus verbal repetition of children's prose: evidence for processing differences, 3 269–280
Research abstracts: A comparison between achievement gains in multimedia instruction and conventional lecture method of instruction of nursing courses at Northern Virginia Community College, 3 307; The effect of cartoon-embellished programed textual instruction on students' skill learning and affective learning, 2 215; Programming method and response mode in a visual-oral task, 2 215–216; Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, 2 215; Teaching introductory chemistry with videocassette presentations, 3 307.

Millar, James A. See Dirlam, David K.

Miller, Elwood E., book reviewer, 1 91–96

Miller, Gerald R., Jurors' responses to videotaped trial materials: some recent findings, research abstract, 1 112

Minor, Barbara B., Research Abstracts, 2, 211–212, 3 306, 4 445

Mouton, Jane Srygley, and Robert R. Blake, Instrumented team learning: a behavioral approach to student centered learning. Book reviewed by Robert A. Reiser, 1 100–103

Murray, John J., and Susan Kippax, Television diffusion and social behavior in three communities: a field experiment, research abstract, 2 212

N

Nassau, Robert H., book reviewer, 3 297–299

New media in public libraries, a survey of current practices, James W. Brown. Book reviewed by Karen B. Tyler, 2 200–203

1976 Pennsylvania Public Television Network audience research project: phase 1. audience definition and estimation, Carl A. Lindsay and Harrison T. Southworth, research abstract, 3 312

Nyhan, Michael J. See Cater, Douglass

O

O'Connor, Maeve, and F. Peter Woodford, Writing scientific papers in English: an ELSE-Ciba Foundation guide for authors. Book reviewed by Robert Heinich, 3 300–303

Overview of the project, Sherryl B. Graves, research abstract, 3 310

P

Pariente, Arthur C., book reviewer, 2 203–205

Pascarella, Ernest T., Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, article, 1 25–41; letter, 3 290

Personalized System of Instruction (PSI)
Articles: Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation, and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, 1 25–41; Using ratings by students to predict high and low achievers in a PSI course: a discriminant analysis, 4 411–422

Peterson, Betty L., A comparison between achievement gains in multimedia instruction and conventional lecture method of instruction of nursing courses at Northern Virginia Community College, research abstract, 3 307

Phelps, Erin M., Knowledge of the television industry and relevant first-hand experience, research abstract, 3 310

Pictorial organization versus verbal repetition of children's prose: evidence for processing differences, article, Michael D. Ruch and Joel R. Levin, 3 269–280

Pictorial presentation (Also see Visual presentation)
Articles: Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, 2 167–179; Pictorial organization versus verbal repetition of children's prose: evidence for processing differences, 3 269–280; The picture in your mind, 1 43–62.
Research abstracts: The effects of vido tape and still photo process feedback on the aesthetic quality of hand-built clay pot forms of college undergraduate art students, 1 117–118; Media and creativity: effects of pictures on ideational fluency in children, 4 448; A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, 3 308–309

The picture in your mind, article, Malcolm L. Fleming, 1 43–62

Poley, Janet Kathleen Wirth, The development and validation of instructional videotapes to assist in the training of nutrition educators, research abstract, 1 114–115

Postman, Neil, Crazy talk, stupid talk. Book reviewed by Maria Simpson, 1 105–107

Presentation methods (See Methods)

The prince and the faceless, nameless child, comment, Roger Kaufman, 4 423–425

Professional scholarship in educational technology: criteria for judging inquiry, article, Thomas M. Schwen, 1 5–24

Programed instruction
Research abstracts: The effect of cartoon-embellished programed textual instruction on students' skill learning and affective learning, 2 215; Programming method and response mode in a visual-oral task, 2 215–216

Programming method and response mode in a visual-oral task, Attila P. Csanyi and others, research abstract, 2 215–216

Q

Quarterly progress report, April 1, 1976—June 30, 1976, Children's Television Workshop, Joan Ganz Cooney, research abstract, 2 214

R

Radlick, Michael S., Learning from television: a television based learning system as a capable school resource, research abstract, 3 308

The realism of marital and parental roles on television: a research report, C. Daniel Fisher and Dwight G. Dean, research abstract, 3 311

Redundancy: is it the lost key to better communication?, article, H. J. Hsia, 1 63–85

Reiser, Robert A., book reviewer, 1 100–103

Research

Articles: Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, 2 181–194; AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, 4 317–358; How numbers are shown: a review of research on the presentation of quantitative data in texts, 4 359–409; ERIC 1976 Young Scholar Paper—Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, 2 125–146; The picture in your mind, 1 43–62

Research abstracts: ERIC as cited by doctoral dissertations in education: a statistical analysis with commentary, 4 446; A review of multiple image presentation research, 2 214

Research Abstracts, Lewis B. Mayhew, ed., 1 111; Barbara B. Minor, 2 211–212, 3 306, 4 445

A review of multiple image presentation research, Bernard Fradkin, research abstract, 2 214

Rosonke, Richard J., A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, research abstract, 3 308–309

Rovet, Joanne F., Can audio-visual media teach children mental skills, research abstract, 4 447

Ruch, Michael D., and Joel R. Levin, Pictorial organization versus verbal repetition of children's prose: evidence for processing differences, article, 3 269–280

Ruskin, Robert S. See Johnson, Kent R.

S

Schwen, Thomas M., Professional scholarship in educational technology: criteria for judging inquiry, article, 1 5–24

Selecting and developing media for instruction, Ronald H. Anderson. Book reviewed by Robert H. Nassau, 3 297–299

Sfura, Paula, Technology with a human touch: TV in the classroom, research abstract, , 2 212–213

Simpson, Maria, book reviewer, 1 105–107

Skavaril, Russell V., and others, The use of CAI to provide problems for students in introductory genetics, research abstract, 4 449

Sladicka, John J., The effectiveness of self instruction video cartridge tapes in teaching college level industrial arts, research abstract, 1 115–116

Smith, Carolyn B. See Judd, Larry R.

Sobel, Robert, The manipulators: America in the media age. Book reviewed by Arthur C. Pariente, 2 203–205

Southworth, Harrison T. See Lindsay, Carl A.

Spitzer, Dean R., book reviewer, 4 429–434

Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, Richard C. Anderson and John T. Guthrie, research abstract, 2 215

Students enroll in a model television course: evaluation of city colleges of Chicago's use of "Ascent of Man," Paul B. Duby and David R. Giltrow, research abstract, 3 312

A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, Richard J. Rosonke, research abstract, 3 308–309

A study of the effects of a trained television communicator on undergraduate attitudes and learning, Douglas O. Wardwell, research abstract, 3 311

Subjects, characteristics of Articles: Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, 2 147–158; Interaction of motivation, mathematics preparation and instructional method in a PSI and conventionally taught calculus course, 1 25–41; Using ratings by students to predict high and low achievers in a PSI course: a discriminant analysis, 4 411–422

Research abstracts: Are there instructional developers in the schools? a sociological look at the development of a profession, 3 243–267; Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, 2 216

T

Taylor, Elmer Davis, The effects of video tape and still photo process feedback on the aesthetic quality of hand-built clay pot forms of college undergraduate art students, research abstract, 1 117–118

Teachers

Research abstracts: A comparison of the effectiveness of direct contact with children in the classroom versus indirect contact via videotape in Piagetian conservation tasks in preservice teaching training, 1 112–113; Educational technology, organizational structure and teacher perceptions of effectiveness, 4 446

Teaching children to become more critical consumers of television, Judith Lemon, research abstract, 3 310

Teaching concepts: an instructional design guide, M. David Merrill and Robert D. Tennyson. Book reviewed by Eva L. Baker, 4 427–429

Teaching introductory chemistry with videocassette presentations, John Enger and others, research abstract, 3 307

Technological forecasting for decisionmaking, Joseph P. Martino. Book reviewed by Dean R. Spitzer, 4 429–434

Technology with a human touch: TV in the classroom, Paula Sfura, research abstract, 2 212–213

Telephone: the first hundred years, John Brooks. Book reviewed by Colin Turner, 1 103–105

Television

Articles: The effects of TV program pacing on the behavior of preschool children, 2 159–166; Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, 3 281–289

Research abstracts: Evaluation of eight "Infinity Factory" programs, appendices, 2 214; Evaluation of eight "Infinity Factory" programs. Part I: analysis of the eight-show series, 2 213; Evaluation of eight "infinity factory" programs. Part II: show-by-show analysis, 2 213; The evidence on television violence, 3 309–310; Learning from television: a television based learning system as a capable school resource, 3 308; The long-range impact of television, 3 309; 1976 Pennsylvania Public Television Network audience research project: phase 1. audience definition and estimation, 3 312; Overview of the project. Cognitive processes for evaluating the credibility of television content. Content attended to in evaluating television's credibility. Factors which predict the credibility ascribed to television. Teaching children to become more critical consumers of television. Knowledge of the television industry and relevant first-hand experiences, 3 310; Quarterly progress report, April 1, 1976—June 30, 1976, Children's Television Workshop 2 214; The realism of marital and parental roles on television: a research report, 3 311; Students enroll in a model television course: evaluation of city colleges of Chicago's use of "Ascent of Man," 3 312; A study of the effects of a trained television communicator on undergraduate attitudes and learning, 3 311; Technology with a human touch: TV in the classroom, 2 212–213; Television diffusion and social behavior in three communities: a field experiment, 2 212

Television diffusion and social behavior in three communities: a field experiment, John J. Murray and Susan Kippax, research abstract, 2 212

Television programs as socializing agents for mentally retarded children, article, Stanley J. Baran, 3 281–289

Tennyson, Robert D. See Merrill, M. David

Theory

Articles: Alternate methodologies for instructional media research, 2 181–194; AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, 4 317–358; Educational technology and human values, 3 221–242; ERIC 1976 Young Scholar Paper—Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, 2 125–146; The picture in your mind, 1 43–62; Redundancy: is it the lost key to better communication?, 1 63–85

Torkelson, Gerald M., AVCR—one quarter century: evolution of theory and research, article, 4 317–358

Turner, Colin, book reviewer, 1 103–105

Turoff, Murray. See Linstone, Harold A.

Tyler, Karen B., book reviewer, 2 200–203

U

Using ratings by students to predict high and low achievers in a PSI course: a discriminant analysis, article, David W. Chapman, Robert Holloway, and Edward Kelly, 4 411–422

The use of CAI to provide problems for students in introductory genetics, Russell V. Skavaril and others, research abstract, 4 449

V

Videotape (Also see Television, Visual Presentation)

Articles: Changes in self-concept and ideal self-concept after viewing a videotaped speech, 2 147–158

Research abstracts: Teaching introductory chemistry with videocassette presentations, 3 307; Jurors' responses to videotaped trial materials: some recent findings, 1 112; Increasing information-seeking behavior with a model-reinforced videotape, 1 112; The effectiveness of self instruction video cartridge tapes in teaching college level industrial arts, 1 115–116; The development and validation of instructional videotapes to assist in the training of nutrition educators, 1 114–115; A comparison of the effectiveness of direct contact with children in the classroom versus indirect contact via videotape in Piagetian conservation, 1 112–113; Assessment of teaching textile polymer science to home economic students by closed circuit television cassette tapes, 1 113–114

Violence

Research abstracts: The evidence on television violence, 3 309–310; The long-range impact of television, 3 309

Visual presentation (Also see specific media such as Television, Videotape, etc.)

Articles: The effects of TV program pacing on the behavior of preschool children, 2 159–166; ERIC 1976 Young Scholar Paper—Inserted post-questions and learning from slide-tape presentations: implications of the mathemagenic hypothesis, 2 125–146; Evaluation of audio and pictorial instructional supplements, 2 167–179; How numbers are shown: a review of research on the presentation of quantitative data in texts, 4 359–409; Illustrating the lecture: prepared diagrams vs. built-up diagrams, 1 87–90; Pictorial organization versus verbal repetition of children's prose: evidence for processing differences, 3 269–280; Redundancy: is it the lost key to better communication?, 1 63–85

Research abstracts: Can audio-visual media teach children mental skills, 4 447–448; The effect of cartoon-embellished programed textual instruction on students' skill learning and affective learning, 2 215; A study of the effectiveness of three visual attention-directing devices on the recall of relevant information from line drawings, 3 308–309; Interactive effects of color realism and learner I.Q. on visualized instruction, 2 216; An investigation of the effectiveness of realistic and non-realistic color in visualized instruction, 2 216; Media and creativity: effects of pictures on ideational fluency in children, 4 448; Stimulus sequence and concept learning. Experiment II. Monograph number 2, 2 215

W,X,Y,Z

Wardwell, Douglas O., A study of the effects of a trained television communicator on undergraduate attitudes and learning, research abstract, 3 311

Witt, Paul W. F. See Davis, Robert H.

Woodford, F. Peter. See O'Connor, Maeve

Writing scientific papers in English: an ELSE-Ciba Foundation guide for authors, Maeve O'Connor and F. Peter Woodford. Book reviewed by Robert Heinich, 3 300–303